The President's Message

As I hit my 21st year as the President of the Maryland Token and Medal Society, I am very thankful for the help I get from so many of our members. This all goes a very long way to make the Maryland Token and Medal Society the quality organization that it is. Just in the last few years we have seen folks step in to take open offices such as Treasurer (Bill Stratemeyer), Secretary (Bryce Dexsen) and Journal Editor (Jane Sears). Such efforts have allowed MD TAMS to remain strong and viable. I have been extremely impressed with the dedication and quality of effort put forth by Jane who has certainly added some new, exciting touches to our Maryland TAMS Journal. She has also made some changes to our delivery and publication process for the Journal that will allow us to get our latest information out to our member base quicker and at a much more reasonable cost. Major kudos to Jane for her proactive approach to making our Journal and our club even better. Thanks too to Bill for his successful handling of some banking issues that arose as a result of Susquehanna Bank being taken over by BB&T Bank. On the transfer process, some of our documentation was lost or misplaced, and we had to produce some additional paperwork to conform to banking requirements. Bill put a fair amount of time to getting MD TAMS back to BB&T standards. Whenever you get a chance, please thank Bryce, Bill and Jane for the time and effort they put in to make MD TAMS an outstanding organization. Thanks to the folks who do other things such as write articles, references, run our auctions, etc. It is a team sport!!!! I need to clarify our winter, foul weather plan. At our recent Swap Meet, we had some confusion in this area for which I apologize. Almost all our functions are on Saturday. If Baltimore City schools are closed on Friday or close early on Friday, we will not meet on Saturday. If bad weather does not arrive until late Friday or early Saturday, and the Baltimore City schools cancel school activities for Saturday, we will not meet on Saturday. I hope that this will help avoid future bad weather related event planning.

Election of officers

If you wish to run for a position. PLEASE

From the Editor

Hello Fellow Members

The 2016 Winter edition was sent out without any problems. Some emails came back undeliverable. I will try to get it corrected and will update the email addresses. Those who received emails were pleased.

If you wish to receive the journal by email - you must supply your email address. Keep your emails up to date. Remember the email edition of the journal is in color.

As I was going over the membership list, I saw many names I have not heard from. I want to start a section for members who don't like to write articles but have something to share with the club. It will cover a token or medal that you supply some information. Maybe, a "go with" item that makes your token or medal special with a very short, short story of your adventure of seeking your treasure. (Remember our journal is so many pages). As always I will plug for articles to fill the journal. It is your way to share and tell others about your tokens or medals.

With our journals on Newman Portal, I mentioned the site to Jack Phillips. He was the founder and editor of The American Play Money Society (APMS) which was founded in 1996 and ended June 2002. A total of 25 newsletters were published. He also mentioned that he has his APMS web site available. He is scanning and download the issues there: <http://s88204154.onlinehome.us/apms/> He said he would check out the Newman site. It was nice to go back in time and browse thru the issues.

E-Mail Updates Needed - The MD TAMS often e-mails members with information that is time-sensitive.

Remember
Keep your email
UP TO DATE

In many cases, the e-mails are returned undeliverable. Please keep MD TAMS informed of changes in your e-mail address, so that we can send your information on a timely basis. You can e-mail us to let us know your new address, and we will update our records.

Thanks!

Jane

I came across this token from an auction lot and found it to be an unlisted denomination in the MD Merchant Token book. It's an aluminum token from the Wm. R. Parcell Company Store – Berlin, MD. It is denominated "1" and the denominations listed are 5, 10, 25, 50 &

100. Sent in by Steven Kawalec.

MEET THE MEMBERS

Meet Russ & Jane Sears

COLLECTING THE HISTORY OF BALTIMORE

Russ and Jane Sears have been MdHS members for 28 years and are Baltimore natives. The husband and wife team are historians and collectors of various Baltimore artifacts. When they aren't searching for new artifacts to add to their collection, Russ and Jane participate in multiple historical and collector organizations, such as the Maryland Token & Medal Society, which has awarded them numerous literary awards.

Russ and Jane Sears

What area of Maryland's history interests you the most? Why?

An collector of the region's artifacts, we are interested in all aspects of Baltimore history because it tells our story. We grew up here and identify with the history of Maryland.

We understand that you have a small museum in your house! We would love to hear about that!

We collect artifacts from different parts of the history of Baltimore, some of which date back as early as the 1700's. We have tokens, medals, stock certificates, bonds, lottery tickets, transportation documents, documents concerning the building of Loch Raven and the tunnel system that comes out of it into Lake Montebello, and that's just to name a few. We can pull artifacts that people of all walks of life are able to relate to in some way.

What is your most prized possession in your collection, and why?

Russ: The BSO ledger book for the transfer of stock from 1875 that documents the executors of Johns Hopkins' will signing his stock ownership to the Johns Hopkins University. It is my favorite because it created the endowment without which there would be no Johns Hopkins today.

Jane: I prefer our Robert E. Lee paper, which is a constitution document that details the pay of laborers who worked on Fort Carroll. It was crafted by Lee who was the head engineer in the late 1840s, and early 1850s.

What spurred your interest in collecting historic artifacts?

Russ: I started collecting stamps and coins at 12 years old, but became more interested in tokens and medals, mostly because I enjoyed the historical stories that went along with each piece. I pulled Jane into this and she found it to be interesting as well.

Jane: I like to experience the excitement of searching for new artifacts at antique shows, flea markets and similar events.

What would someone be surprised to learn about you?

Jane: I don't talk much unless I super know you and then I can go a mile a minute!

Russ: I served as the Baltimore City Anti-Predatory Lending Task Force, which focused on eliminating predatory actions against the city residents in the sale and financing of homes.

What is your favorite part about being a member?

We enjoy the programs, the exhibits, as well as being able to share the artifacts in our collection in the things in MdHS's vast collection.

What would you tell someone who is considering joining the Maryland Historical Society?

*We would encourage everyone to join MdHS because of all the educational programs, research opportunities, and the chance to see real things from history. **

Carmine, Lamdin & Co. Brass Shell Card Token

Russ Sears LM 11

This shell card looks like a regular advertising token. However, instead of being struck between two dies like a coin is made, this piece is made by embossing each side and putting the pieces together. The end result looks like it is one solid piece but you can feel that it is not solid.

That is, if you ever get to see and touch one. Most shell cards are ultra rare. We believe that this Carmine, Lamdin & Co. piece is the only one known. After searching for over 35 years, we were finally able to acquire this one.

"Use Carmine, Lamdin & Co's Trade Mark Big Sea Oysters" 1870 34mm

Unlisted in Maryland Merchant Tokens by Sebenkman.

Unlisted in standard catalog of United States TOKENS 1700 -1800 by Rulau.

Listed as B-MD-170 in The Token and Medal Society Guide to U. S. Shell Cards 1867-1880 by Q. David Bowers

This company is listed in Baltimore's Packing & Canning Industry by Jane Sears as Foot of Broadway 1874 and 95 Thames Street 1875-84. We found that 95 Thames Street became 1709 Thames Street with the change of address numbers in 1886. Currently this address, which is at the foot of Broadway, no longer exists. What was the address is now just a bulkhead and water.

The company was owned by Thomas and James Carmine and Thomas Lamdin. Further research in Jane Sears' book showed that the men operated various companies using one name or using multiple names of the three men between 1872 and 1884.

TOMATOES AND GRAVEL

Bernie Bodt R-282

For many of the small sized cannery operations, the business was secondary to their main occupation. In the case of my ancestors for three generations this was true, as their primary vocations were as carpenters and cabinet makers. Granted during the year there were spurts of activity in spring with planting and ordering supplies, and later in the summer with harvesting and canning the crops. Frank Maxa operated as one of these cannery with dual occupations.

Frank Maxa (pronounced Moxa) emigrated from Vienna, Austria to Aberdeen, MD about 1890. He owned property on the western side of Aberdeen, where he discovered large deposits of sand and gravel. When the U. S. Government purchased the land to create Aberdeen Proving Ground in 1917, he supplied much of the gravel to build the extensive road network at that facility.

During this same period Frank Maxa was involved in canning tomatoes. He was listed from 1915 to 1926 in the Cannery Directories published by the National Cannery Association head-quartered in Washington, D. C. Tokens from Frank's operations are:

It is interesting to note anytime the above tokens are located they are usually accompanied by brass tokens having numbers only on one side. The numbered tokens usually appear to be uncirculated.

The tokens with numbers are:

6) 25

brass, square, 24mm

7) 1.00

8) 5.00

Could it be these tokens were used in a tally system not only in the canning business, but as a system to measure the loads of gravel hauled? We may never be certain.

As a final tribute, the Maxa Road Bridge over Interstate 95 (mile marker 85.6) is just north of the Ripken Stadium, which connected Frank Maxa's home property to his gravel pits.

CHAPTER PENNIES OF THE PRINCE HALL MASONS

by Frank Pugliese

Jan's family was very active in the Baltimore Masonic and Shrine organizations. It was therefore natural to include Masonic exnumia in her hometown collection. The collection has 12 Royal Arch pennies attributed to Baltimore and bordering communities. This includes two Phoenix Chapter pennies, one addressed as Essex and the other as Baltimore. The only reference we have is King's Masonic Chapter Pennies. There was no Chapter 2 or Chapter 10 listed. At the end of the U.S. Section, there is a chapter listing miscellaneous, clandestine and other pennies. There are three Baltimore listing in this chapter: Zerubabel No. 4 (which is a false Masonic organization), Thekla Chapter No 18, and Berean Chapter No 23. We have never seen pennies from these chapters.

Two years ago we found a penny from King David Chapter No 1, established in 1876. This gave us not one but two RAM Chapter 1 pennies in Baltimore- Concordia and King David. Why two Chapter 1s?

We checked with everyone we knew who had knowledge of the organization but got no answer. Prince Hall, a Black Masonic organization, was suggested. However, every Prince Hall penny we've seen over the years was so marked.

At the November 2016 Baltimore show, Irv Crowl asked about Masonic items. In the course of our conversation, I mentioned the King David penny. He too suggested Prince Hall but had never heard of this chapter. He asked if I could bring it to the next Baltimore show, which I did. He examined and photographed the piece and said he would see what he could find. In July, he returned with information on not only that chapter but on a number of others as well.

The King David No 1 turned out to be a Prince Hall Chapter as several had suggested. He said the information was simple to find as he went on the internet. (Sometimes I wish I weren't a Luddite!) The site listed ten lodges in Maryland and seven affiliated in Germany (3), Italy, Baghdad (in transition), Kuwait and one more "in transition". There are two lodges in Baltimore besides King David: Mount Zion No. 2, and Keystone No. 10, both of which we have.

The other MD chapters are as follows:

Hope Chapter No. 6 – Severna Park
Corinthian No. 20 – Indian Head (King lists it as Pomomkey)
Boaz No.21 - Havre de Grace
Luther Jackson No. 22 – Salisbury (King lists this as Prince Hall No. 22 in Catonsville)
Samuel T. Daniels No. 107 - Severna Park
King Solomon No. 114 - Rockville
Mount Morian No.119 - Dundalk
Hope this gives Maryland collectors more "stuff" to look for.
